Australia changed all of its qualifying tournaments to use the SOWPODS word list in 1994, while the UK made the same change in 2001. From the NASPA Word List, formerly Official Tournament and Club Word List, or TWL, derived from the Merriam-Webster Dictionary and four other collegiate dictionaries. This latest move coincided with the publication of the first official book containing all the words of OSW and OSPD (Chambers' Official Scrabble Words: International Edition). It is stated that the Word List can be purchased in print or digital format. Collins Scrabble Words (CSW, formerly SOWPODS) is the list of words used in English language tournament Scrabble in most countries except the USA, Thailand and Canada.[1] The term SOWPODS is an anagram of the two abbreviations OSPD (Official Scrabble Players Dictionary) and OSW (Official Scrabble Words), these being the two original official dictionaries used in various parts of the world at the time. The latest version is NWL2020. There has been no printed list produced called SOWPODS, although the current Collins Scrabble Words, or CSW, is the complete list of SOWPODS under a different name. In due course, Collins took over the publication of the official list of words sanctioned by the WESPA, and the current edition is CSW22.[3] The only change from CSW19 to CSW22 is the deletion of about 400 words considered hate speech. So I searched the official word list of the tournament, and found this website, from the American Association of Scrabble Players.
